

Apollo ~ God of the Sun

Apollo is the son of Zeus and the Titaness, Leto. He has a twin sister named Artemis. He is probably the most loved god on Olympus. He is handsome, charming, talented, and honest. He delights the other Olympians with his music and songs. He teaches people how to cure and care for sick and ailing people.

Apollo is responsible for the movement of the sun across the sky. He pulls the sun with his golden chariot. Apollo often carries a golden bow and arrows and he often appears as a shimmering gold color. He also has the gift of the prophecy, and he is said to speak through the Oracle at Delphi. His symbols include: the crow, the dolphin, the laurel, and the lyre.
