

Hades ~ God of the Underworld

Hades is also the son of the Titans, Kronos and Rhea. Like his other brothers and sisters (except for Zeus), he was swallowed by his father. Zeus saved him and the others and gave him the Underworld to rule. Hades kidnapped Persephone (the daughter of Demeter). Zeus ruled that she would stay for half the year (autumn and winter) with Hades and half the year (spring and summer) with her mother, Demeter, on Earth.

Hades is always gloomy and he can be very frightening at times. He is also very wealthy, owning all of the jewels, gold, and silver. Hades owns the Helmet of Invisibility (his Helm). He occasionally lends it to humans to use. He is not thought of as evil, his name means, "the unseen". His symbols include the helmet, metals, and jewels..
