

Hestia ~ Goddess of the Hearth

Hestia is the oldest daughter of the Titans, Kronos and Rhea. She has never married. Hestia is a sweet, kind and forgiving goddess and she never leaves her home on Mount Olympus. She never participates in any arguments or wars, and for this reason, all of the other Olympians love and respect her.

Hestia is the goddess who protects the home and the family. Every human prays to her and every fire in every hearth is Hestia's fire. Though she has no temples dedicated to her, since her fire burns in every temple she is worshipped everywhere. Her symbols include: the hearth and fire.
